

B8gie Foo' Invites You To Play in the 2020 Foolympic Games.

The #Foolympics is a creatively engaging game that B8gie Foo' aka Fooba Gooding Jr. aka Foolius Caesar aka Foocci Mane has finally decided to play with the masses. Originating amongst peers at UIUC, the game began to spread via B8gie's Instagram when others discovered the hashtag and debatably picked up on the rules. Now the official song and visual for the game is sure to amuse and impress those playing along as B8gie cleverly melds the name Foo' with the names of some familiar figures throughout history and pop culture.

B8gie Foo' (fka ACE B8gie) is a Chicago born and raised hip-hop artist with over 20 years of experience. What began as an 8-year-old boy's affinity for Cash Money Records has grown into a grand appreciation of all music genres as B8gie Foo' exhibits quality consistency, dynamic lyricism, and soulful showmanship on local and national platforms. B8gie Foo' has traveled the country for performance purposes with Louisiana and California serving as major inspiration points combined with his love for his home in Chicago. B8gie's recording career accelerated with his affiliation to the group FOC, an entity composed of Giftz & other close childhood friends. B8gie was involved in the group's projects It's A Done Deal (2008) and Spectacular Moments (2011). While working on those projects, and further beyond, B8gie Foo' has established a growing collection of solo projects.

B8gie's solo efforts include The Hot Boy B8gie Project Vol. 1 (2001), Time is an ILLusion (2010), Survival of the FOCused (2012), Endorphin Extended Play (2012), The B8gie Foo' Blues (2014), and The Hot Boy B8gie Project Vol. 2 (2016) which featured him rapping alongside his prepubescent self, serving as a history-making revision of his self-produced, prepubescent release of Vol. 1. Some of his most acclaimed records include "Fuck a Plan B" featuring Murph Watkins and "Bird's Eye View" which features an original production that was later used by Beyoncé for her single "7/11". "Plan B" with Murph Watkins lead to the creation of their duo, WLFG, and the EP titled Worth Lots, Faith Good (2018). B8gie Foo' is currently working on a new project with the lead singles "Foolympics" and forthcoming "Microwave Oven". B8gie's recent relocation to Los Angeles and his alignment with Plyte is another example of his steadfast growth as an artist and infinite desire to find new ways to market and brand himself. Truly.
